McAfee Antivirus 2012 is powered by a unique engine that enables the program to access potential threats, including free and malicious threats. Furthermore, the software enables you to create a baseline for future scans, so you can be assured that your computer is always well protected from emerging threats. McAfee Antivirus 2012 can be used to take part in real-time or scheduled scans for general protection and system analysis. Furthermore, you can always find out how your PC was infected in a matter of seconds. Useful features McAfee Antivirus 2012 includes many useful features, such as: Provide scheduled antivirus scans: You can create a configuration file with several email addresses so that you can get updates regarding ongoing scans. You can also set up specific intervals for the scheduled and real-time scans. View the last scan or scan for a specific email address: You can always get an overview of the last scan or specify a specific email address. Acquire a snapshot of every component for the safety of your system: You can always compare your system with a snapshot and identify any changes that might have resulted from malicious programs. Automatically resolve problems: You can keep the computer available for other applications even though you are using the anti-virus software. In case of a system problem, you can easily resolve it by rebooting the computer, knowing that your protection is always up to date and active. Search for new threats: McAfee Antivirus 2012 enables you to search for any new malware, even when you do not have the preview feature on. You will get instant alerts for all threats that have been found, so you can deal with them before they become a problem. Import and export: You can export your configuration file and share it with other users, who can use it to configure their own virus-protection software or just start a new analysis. Importing the configuration file will allow you to use the same database, so you will not have to create a brand-new one. Get real-time protection: McAfee Antivirus 2012 works in real-time and immediately protects your system against new threats. You can also launch a real-time scan from a scheduled scan or by manually clicking on the “Scan” button, provided by the toolbar. Automatically update itself: McAfee Antivirus 2012 will check for updates once a day and notify you regarding any available updates. a69d392a70
